

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

ON FIRE TWICE SARLES MAN LEAPED INTO SNOWBANK AND PREVENTED SERIOUS BURNS

Sarles, N. D., March 2.—Twice catching on fire from gasoline and twice plunging into a snowbank to extinguish the flames, Peter Naismith escaped serious injuries, though he was painfully burned. He was attempting to start a small gasoline engine and accidentally poured some gasoline into the cylinder. This caught on fire, causing an explosion, throwing the oil on Naismith's clothing. He ran into the yard and leaped into a snowbank; the fire was put out. When he started back into the house he met his daughter carrying out a five-gallon can of gasoline, which was ablaze. Once more Naismith caught on fire and another time he resorted to the snowpile.

FARMERS BELIEVE THAT GANG IS NOW IN PEN

METHODIST CHURCH AT CARRINGTON BURNED

Flaxton, N. D., March 2.—The farmers of this vicinity feel their livestock and grain is safer now that Jack Dolan, William and Frank Barge have been sent to the pen. Dolan was arrested in connection with the gang of the Manning team, which was located in Canada. He confessed indicating the Barges, father and son. They had not only stolen horses but had taken many head of cattle which they butchered and sold to settlers. All three entered pleas of guilty and were sent to the state penitentiary for life. For some time the Barges had been under suspicion but no direct evidence could be secured against them. When Dolan was arrested it was known he was an associate of the other men and he was given the third degree until he confessed.

23 INSANE DEPORTED FROM MORTON COUNTY

Mandan, N. D., March 2.—The deportation of Matherina Saiti to Bohemia makes twenty-three insane persons sent from this county back to their native homes in Europe. The girl, born in this country, had been in a sanitarium and a sister in Minneapolis arrived here to take charge of her. They left accompanied by a representative of the immigration department.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES FOR NORTH DAKOTA

Ellendale, March 2 and 3. Westhope, March 3.

Landa, March 5 and 6.

Loma, March 9 and 10.

Fairdale, March 10, 11 and 12.

Lankin, March 12 and 13.

Hamilton, March 14.

"TIZ" GLADDENS SORE, TIRED FEET

"TIZ" makes sore, burning, tired feet feel like dancing with delight. Away go the aches and pains, the corns, callouses, blisters and bunions.

"TIZ" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet. No matter how hard you work, how long you dance, how far you walk, or how long you remain on your feet, "TIZ" brings a restful foot comfort.

"TIZ" is wonderful for tired, aching, swollen, smarting feet. Your feet just tingle for joy; shoes never hurt or seem tight.

Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" now from any druggist or department store. End foot torture forever—wear smaller shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet and happy.

AUCTION SALE

The Personal Property of the G. S. Barnes Farm

GLYNDON, MINN.

In order to close up the estate of the late G. S. Barnes, I will offer for sale at Public Auction at the farm, located on section 4 town-ship of Glyndon, Clay County, Minnesota, 8 miles east of Fargo, 7 miles east of Moorhead and 1 1/2 miles west of Glyndon on Wednesday and Thursday, March 4th and 5th, 1914

Commencing promptly at 10:30 a. m. each day, all the personal property of our 5,000 acre diversified farm:

FREE TRANSPORTATION—From Fargo on Special Train, leaving the Northern Pacific Depot at 10:00 a. m. on days of sale and returning in the afternoons. All Northern Pacific local trains will stop at Barnes siding on days of sale.

60 Horses, 30 Mules, 150 Cattle, 150 Hogs, 260 Ewes

60 PERCHERON MARES AND GELDINGS—Ranging in age from 5 to 12 years and weighing from 1,200 to 1,650 pounds; colors, black, bay and grey.

30 HIGH GRADE MULES—From our Percheron mares, and 925 pound Jack.

65 MILCH COWS; 85 YOUNG HEIFERS AND STEERS—Brown, Swiss and Shorthorn; some pedigree and some grade.

150 YORKSHIRE HOGS—Including brood sows. All the above live stock bred and raised by us.

260 EWES—All bred for April and May lambs; also 10 Shropshire lambs.

Hector G. Barnes, Administrator

A. H. MILLER Auctioneer

A. C. HUXLEY, Assistant Auctioneer

LISBON CREAMERY WILL BE ENLARGED

Lisbon, N. D., March 2.—For three years a private cannery has been operated here with considerable success. It has been decided to increase the capacity of the plant and a stock company has been formed. New machinery has been added and many contracts have been made with farmers and truck gardeners for tomatoes and other vegetables. The new firm will specialize on tomatoes and sweet corn.

PRINTING PRESS GIVEN DECISION

Wilton, N. D., March 2.—Despite the fact that the weather was cold and a raw south wind was blowing, a large crowd attended the regular program of the Washburn Lignite Coal Co. Literary society. The dance which followed also attracted a goodly number.

J. H. Rogers presided as the chairman of the evening. After several selections by the orchestra, C. G. Mathys read the society paper, Slack, whose columns bristled with interesting items from the managing editor of the Peter's Grove, the printing plant reporter.

John Brown, the printing press reporter, gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.

Alfred L. Smith, the negative had his subject well in hand and gave many interesting facts concerning the advantages of the steam engine.

The second speaker for the affirmative, being in the journalistic business himself, had no trouble in giving all the possible merits of the printing press.

G. H. Iverson pleased the audience with his off hand delivery and good natural attacks on the printing press.

When all had been said pro and con the judges decided four to one that the affirmative had had the better of the argument and declared in favor of the printing press.

John L. Satterson, Washburn; Miss May D. R. Lewis, Danville; and A. B. Wells.

Charles Mitchell opened for the affirmative and gave a brief history of the printing press from the time of its invention up to the present day, also recounting the benefits of this invention brought to mankind.