PRINCE LUCIFER OF OLD NOW PRINCE OF DEMONS.

Pastor Russell Finds Much in the Bible
on Satan's Past, Present and Future.

Washington, D. C., January 29.—Pastor Russell addressed large audiences here twice today at the Opera House. His afternoon theme was "Hereafter." In his evening address he discussed Satan and suggested valuable lessons from his errors. Incidentally he showed that many of us have been wrong in thinking of him as a fire-stoker in a far off torture chamber; others, equally in error and out of accord with the Scriptures, in denying Satan's personality and claiming that the name represents merely the principle of evil. From the Scriptures Pastor Russell pointed out that he who is known as Satan, or Adversary of God, was not another God of disposition and thus contrary to our Creator, nor was he in any sense created evil. He was an angel of light, or rather, The Angel of Light. He was a Prince or Superior amongst the angels—a "covering cherub," as described in the Scriptures. He was glorious, beautiful, intelligent; one of the highest of God's creatures on the spiritual plane. Angels in general in the Scriptures are referred to as sons of God and as stars, bright, luminous, glorious. The original name of Satan before his transgression was Lucifer, which signifies a bright and morning star.

One might suppose that an angel of Lucifer's dignity and glory, would have been thoroughly content with the wonderful position of Divine favor which he enjoyed. But it is not always those who are without name and fame and blessings who are ambitious for higher things. As the millionaire desires more millions, so Lucifer, rich in Divine favor and blessings, honor and greatness, longed for still more. He was ambitious. It seemed to him that the Divine Program worked slowly. He longed for an opportunity to put into exercise his own brilliant schemes. These schemes naturally were secreted in his own heart. He revealed them to no one. He said in his heart, he would ascend above the stars; he would be as the Most High (Isaiah xiv, 13, 14). Not that he thought of usurping Jehovah's Empire, but merely that he coveted a little corner of the Universe where he could be supreme, above the other angels, exercising his own genius. This unholy thought, disloyal to his Creator, he harbored, instead of repelling as moral poison—instead of saying, "To my God I will be true." My life and every blessing I owe him. He is All-wise, whether I understand all of his doings or not.

Lucifer Tested—Proved Disloyal
None of the holy angels were disloyal to God and foolish enough to prefer Satan. Satan's first temptation, or putting his ambition into practice came when mother Eve was created and he heard the Divine message that, through the human pair, the earth would be peopled with a race of their kind. Ambition whispered, Secure the pair as the foundation for your empire and soon they will fill the earth, and your long-cherished desires will have fulfillment.

The story of the deception of mother Eve by falsehood, and of father Adam's disobedience and practical suicide is the well-known Bible study. Satan achieved his ends and became, as Scripturally declared, "The Prince of this world" (John xiv, 30). But, alas! his Kingdom is one of darkness. Sin reigns. And death, the penalty of sin, has brought to mankind pain and sorrow, mental and physical, with moral depravity. Today Satan's empire of 1,600,000,000 is a wretched one, whose only hope is in God and the Divine provision—that in due time the Redeemer, as the world's Messiah, shall take the Scepter of earth and bind Satan for a thousand years, release mankind from the bondage of sin and death, and give, to Adam and all his race a full opportunity for return to Divine favor, as at first enjoyed, and of knowledge, both of good and evil, of which mother Eve too precipitately partook.

Untruthful and a Murderer

The speaker quoted Jesus, the great Teacher, as saying that "Satan was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the Truth" (John viii, 44). This, he said, corroborated the many other statements of Scripture respecting the personality of Satan. An evil principle could not truthfully be termed a murderer and a falsifier. Such terms could apply only to an intelligent being, such as the Bible describes Lucifer, now called Satan.

St. Paul likewise refers to Satan as a person, saying, "We are not ignorant of his devices" (II Corinthians ii, 11); and again, "We were not with flesh and blood (merely), but with wicked spirits in high power" (Ephesians vi, 12). The speaker held that Satan has certain evil angels of an inferior grade subordinate to him and over whom he is the prince or ruler—"The Prince of demons." These, he said, he might refer to more particularly next Sunday. Through these evil spirits for six thousand years a malevolent influence has only been preyed upon mankind.

Not only have they preyed upon human weaknesses and passions, but, as adversaries of God, they have used every device at their command to misrepresent the Divine character and Plan, putting darkness for light and light for darkness. It was these false teachings, propagated by Satan and his demon subordinates, that the Apostle referred to as "doctrines of devils" (I Timothy i, 11).

The Logos in Contrast With Lucifer

The speaker believed that St. Paul had in mind the rebellious and degenerate course of Lucifer and intended to institute a contrast between the course of those in the passage which declares that Christ, the Logos, meditated not a usurpation, not to be like God, but, on the contrary, was willing to humble himself and take a bondman's form and then to become obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. The Apostle declares, "Him hath God highly exalted and given a name which is above every name"—to which angels bow. The contrast is that Lucifer allowed pride to rankle in his heart and to lead him to rebellion, while the Logos, fully loyal to Jehovah, submitted himself obediently to every last of loyalty applied. The one who sought to exalt himself will be abased to the Second Death. The one who humbled himself in obedience to death, the death of the Cross, will experience the great reward—glory, honor and immortality, much more than Satan ever dreamed of.

"Thine was the chastisement, with no release,

That mine might be the peace;

Wounded for my transgressions, stricken sore,

That I might sin no more;

The bruising and the cruel stripes were thine,

That healing might be mine;

Thine were the sentence and the condemnation,

Mine the acquittal and the full salvation.

Another Tragedy.

In the Evans' old neighborhood, six or seven miles South of Bradley, at seven o'clock Tuesday evening, Mr. Frank Whatley was assassinated while sitting in his room. He had just finished his supper and other members of the family were at the table. The dining room adjoined the living room, and he was shot from without, by an unknown party, or parties, while conversing with his wife who was at the table.

One shot, as we have been informed, penetrated just above the upper lip, one below the lower lip, which lacerated the tongue and passing out through the back of his neck, and several took effect in his shoulder and the upper portion of his breast. They were buck shot.

The unfortunate victim was able to write, telling his pains, and lingered till 4:00 o'clock in the morning when death claimed him. He never intimated as to who could have been guilty of the cowardly and heinous offense. If he had an idea he never conveyed it to any one, though conscious up to the time of his demise.

Some months ago he had a difficulty with a tenant of his, a Mr. Tom Prisock, whom he shot five times it is alleged with a pistol. Prisock hovered between life and death for weeks but finally recovered. Frank Whatley was incarcerated for a while in the County Jail, and obtained bail after it was seen that his victim would recover.

He was to have been tried at Sturgis for this offense last week, but from some cause the case was continued to Wednesday, next week. Had the law not been so slow perhaps the foul deed would not have been perpetrated, but then that does not justify the means employed and the offender or offenders should be executed for murder if they can be apprehended, tried and convicted. Such crimes are by no means confined to any particular county, nor is Oktibbeha worse than other counties.

A great crime has been committed and it behoves the good citizens to be up and doing.

If the good people are intimidated and powerless, proclaim the fact and invoke other agencies. But this is not necessary, with due and proper efforts such criminals can be apprehended.

No man, woman or child's life is safe in such a country and good people will not locate among such people.

Something must be done. It is up to the good citizens of the County. What will you do? Tamely submit?

Back to the Farm.

The families of Messrs. James and Norman Ware have moved from Starkville to Sessums, and are now domiciled on the Joe Aske farm. But another instance of obedience to the call of the farm to her noble sons to return to the tillage of her productive soil and enjoy the manifold blessings of beauty and plenty which she has treasured up for them.

We hear it in every nook and cranny of city and town—talk of going to the farm—the idea is extant; all manner and class of men are imbued with it, and ere long old Mississippi's thousands of desolate hills and countless waste valleys will be peopled by her noble white sons whose superior brain and fearless brawn will transform these self same spots of desolation into a veritable bower of Edenic majesty.

Another Tiger.

The acute watchfulness of the marshal brought sorrow to another tiger Monday. The operator, as is usual with Starkville tigers, was of mahogany complexion. He gave his cognomen as Jefferson Pearson, and at first denied the charge, but after serious reflection, was not so sure. As it was his "very first" offense, Judge Sudduth made it light—$50.00 and costs. He went on his way rejoicing, saying he would sin no more.

Mr. W. H. Hull, the popular candidate for County Treasurer, of Maben, was here today, and paid us a pleasant visit.

Won Rhodes Scholarship.

Mr. Wm. Rogers, of Clarksville, Tenn., is here on a visit.

While this is the home of the Rogers family, they are now living temporarily in Clarksville, where this young man and his sister attend college. The many friends of this young man and his lamented father, the late Judge Wm. Rogers, rejoice with him in the winning of the Cecil Rhodes Scholarship, which success he has just achieved, being placed in competitive examination with five other contestants of this state, over whom his meritorious work won for him this high honor and splendid opportunity for a higher education.

Mr. Rogers will depart for Oxford, England, University, early in the autumn, where he will spend the next four years in the prosecution of his studies in law, which no doubt will fit him for a noble life work.

His father, Judge Wm. Rogers, was one of the ablest Jurists and most popular Christian gentlemen of this state, and we predict for this young man an equally brilliant future.

HANDICAPPED.

This is the Case With Many Starkville People.

Too many Starkville citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain cause constant misery, making work a burden and stooping lifting an impossibility. The back ache at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Can you doubt Starkville evidence?

J. B. Gray, Main St., Starkville, Miss., says: "Hard work and heavy lifting affected my kidneys and I suffered from a constant pain in my back. At times I was so lame and sore that I was unable to work and although I was constantly using medicines, my condition did not improve. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and annoyed me a great deal. I finally decided to try Doan's Kidney Pill and procured a box at Gill's Drug Store. Through their use a permanent cure was effected and in return I take pleasure in recommending them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—a nod to no other.

Mr. Willie Ware, after a most pleasant stay with homefolks and friends, has returned to the arduous duties of express messenger on the M. & O. railway.

And it is not long now, till we will be chewing a cud of garden sass,
