BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

MAKING FRIENDS WITH MAMMON.

Genesis 33: 1-15—April 20.

"Be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving each other, even as God also in Christ forgave you." Ephesians 4:32, R. V.

In a previous lesson we saw that Jacob willingly, gladly, gave up all of the earthly riches of Abraham and Isaac, and left them in Esau's possession, claiming only the great Promise made to Abraham, and confirmed to Isaac and himself. That Promise was in respect to the future; it was purely of faith. We do not find that, after Esau got possession of the earthly inheritance, he ever gave a thought to the Covenant, which reads "In thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed."

But all the while, that Covenant was the one thing before the mind of Jacob. His course in life was governed by this great Promise. If the Seed of Blessing was to come through him, then he must have children; hence he married and reared a goodly family, regarding them all as identified with himself in the original Promise. His accumulation of flocks and herds was along the same line.

About twenty years after Jacob had left home, he returned, under the Lord's guidance, with the flocks, herds and servants which he had accumulated. Under Divine direction, he was going back to the land of his father. Naturally, he felt a timidity respecting Esau, and prayed to the Lord upon the subject, reminding Him of His Promise. Then he sent word to Esau that he was coming. Next he prepared a gift of considerable value for those times. How large a proportion of his flocks and herds this gift represented we know not, but these earthly things cost Jacob long years of toil.

He could give this goodly portion of earthly mammon to purchase Esau's favor, however, although Esau was indebted to him. Jacob had purchased the first-born's portion, which included the major share of Isaac's worldly riches. These he had left in Esau's hands. The latter might naturally enough suppose that Jacob was now coming to claim his riches—to take possession of the estate. Had he laid no claim to it, Esau would have judged him according to his own standards, and mistrusted that at an opportune time Jacob would make an attack. Thus a feud would have been established between the two families.

The Wisdom of Jacob's Course. Jacob insisted upon Esau's accepting the present. It would stand as a pledge of good faith between them. Esau would be all the more willing to see the prosperity for Jacob, for he realized that he had gotten the better of his brother, first by getting the patrimony, and secondly by getting so rich a present. Evidently Jacob's course was wise. He still had plenty, and God would give him more. His chief concern would be the promotion of the great Abrahamic Promise, the fulfillment of which lay beyond the present life.

The Lesson of Generosity. One lesson which Christians may draw from Jacob's course is that of generosity and benevolence towards those who have no interest in the Heavenly Promise. As Jacob willingly made to Abraham, and confirmed to Isaac and himself, That Promise was in respect to the future; it was purely of faith. We do not find that, after Esau got possession of the earthly inheritance, he ever gave a thought to the Covenant, which reads "In thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed."

But all the while, that Covenant was the one thing before the mind of Jacob. His course in life was governed by this great Promise. ## MR. PETTINGILL IN DEMAND AS BIBLE LECTURER

The meeting of the Wilmington Bible Union in the North Baptist Church on Monday will be omitted, and there will be no further meetings until further notice. This is due to the fact that Pastor Pettingill's appointments will take him away from home on Mondays for some time. During the coming week, Mr. Pettingill is to be the daily speaker at the Fulton street noon prayer meeting in New York City from Monday to Friday inclusive. Early in May he will go to Altoona, Pa., for a week of teaching meetings, and in the latter part of the month he is to attend the Northern Baptist Convention at Detroit, Mich.

The Bible conference planned by the Wilmington Bible Union has been deferred to the first week in June, in order to secure the services of Dr. C. I. Schofield. This teacher has been seriously ill, and is warned against making positive engagements for the next few weeks. It is believed that by the first of June he will be physically fit, and he has given assurances that he will undertake the work in Wilmington from Monday to Friday, June 2 to 6, inclusive.

The proposed conference is intended to be a joint celebration by North Baptist Church and the Wilmington Bible Union, on account of the tenth anniversary of Mr. Pettingill's pastorate with North Church, and his fifteenth anniversary of his service in connection with the Bible Union.

Churned fresh every day. BLUE VALLEY BUTTER. At your grocers.

Ancient Worthies to learn. And how well they learned these! How much faith they manifested! The experiences of those noble characters were a preparation for what lies before them during Messiah's Kingdom. Surely they will be no less loyal and obedient when entrusted with honorable service and power by the great Messiah!

There are two reasons why the spirit-begotten members of the Church should be more thoroughly tested than were the Ancient Worthies. (1) Were the House of Sons; while they were the House of Servants. (2) Our testing is for a very high position of honor and glory. We may become joint-heirs with Christ in His Kingdom, on the Heavenly plane. As St. Peter says, "What manner of persons ought we to be"—we who have had such great favors and enlightenment!

If Abraham left his father's house, to be a stranger in a strange land, in obedience to the Lord's leading, will the Almighty expect less of faith obedience in His spirit-forgotten children? The solo obligato part will be taken by Miss Edith Robb. As an offertory the choir will sing, "I Come O Blessed Saviour," by Pinsky.

C. N. Bower will direct the exercises in the Bible School, beginning at 2 o'clock. There are classes with trained teachers from the headquarters department up to the organized adult Bible classes, taught by Miss Stoppard and Dr. Smiley. One of the features of the latter is the open forum, for the free discussion of any subject in connection with the lesson. Polite visitors will show visitors through the eight departments of this graded classes, or will direct visitors to classes.

Finally, Our Golden Test.

Our Golden Test seems at first not closely related to the lesson. Nevertheless, there is a relationship. It is this: Whoever cultivates generosity and benevolence toward others in the interests of the Lord's Cause is thereby making character. Generosity in dealing with our enemies, with the world, will gradually make us more generous in our homes, with our families, and especially with the Lord's family, to which our text refers.

The Church of this Gospel Age is in the School of Christ, to be prepared for Divine services, in association with the Redeemer during His Messianic Kingdom. The lessons taught are the graces of the Holy Spirit; and to whatever extent we attain these graces, to that extent we shall be prepared for the place to which God has called us. Whoever neglects these lessons will be unfit for a share in that Kingdom. Is not this the very essence of the Apostle's exhortation?—2 Peter 1:5-11.

WILMINGTON WITNESSES

The Names of Wilmington Persons Familiar To All.

Who are the witnesses? They are Wilmington people—Residents of Wilmington who have had kidney backache, kidney ills, bladder ills; who have used Doan's Kidney Pills. These witnesses endorse Doan's.

One Wilmington resident who speaks is S. W. Ransom of 805 E. Seventh street.

Says Mr. Ransom: "I had severe attacks of rheumatic pains that jumped from my hips to my shoulders. I wasn't able to walk down town. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and I had to get up often during the night. Sometimes I was so dizzy that I had to take hold of something to keep from falling. When I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, I used them and they gave me great relief. The dizziness left and the kidney action became regular. The testimonial one of my family gave at that time, telling what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me still holds goods."

Absorbs Skin, Chases Wrinkles—Young Again

"The shock at beholding myself in the glass after nine long weeks abed, nearly caused a relapse," writes Emily Colson in Home Queen. "The faded face, with its lines of illness and worry, seemed thirty years older. Now, I thought, I could not attend my church wedding, eleven days off, to which I had looked hopefully forward."

"She herself came to my rescue. She procured an ounce of ordinary mercerized wax at the drugstore, which she made me spread on like cold cream, washing it off next morning. Applied nightly, this apparently absorbed the withered skin, so gently I experienced no discomfort. Upon the wedding morn the pallid complexion had entirely given way to one of youthful color and loveliness."

"And there wasn't a wrinkle. This due to a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salicylate in a half pint witch hazel. The daily face bath had dispensed every line."

About Telephone Cable

Telephone cable consists of a bundle of ten, twenty-five, fifty and up to six hundred pairs of copper wires, each insulated in its own paper wrapper and the whole sheathed in a coating of lead. It ranges in thickness from the size of a broomstick to that of a man's upper arm.

Without cable the streets of the larger cities and many towns would be black with wires, hung on skyscraping poles from almost innumerable crossarms. Buried beneath the city's streets or running in a single aerial strand, the telephone cable is practically "out of sight." Besides it is storm-proof.

In the Bell System there is in use nearly 7,000,000 miles of cables and more than 500,000 miles are added each year.

The use of cable is one of the fundamental reasons for the always-on-duty quality of the Bell Telephone.
